Traffic congestion takes sheen off illumination

- Multiple one-way rule on key city roads worsens situation
- From tonight till Oct. 15, lights only till 10 pm and not 11 pm

Mysuru, Oct. 10 (BCT)- The city of Mysuru is teeming with people to see Dasara illumination and the roads are choked with bumper-to-bumper traffic beyond 7 pm.

The one-way rule imposed by the City Police and extended wait timings at signals are worsening the problem and are resulting in piling up of vehicles, especially at junctions where more than three roads meet.

Last evening, all the roads surrounding the Mysore Palace were clogged and realising that the one-way rule is not helping in any way, the Police relaxed the rule and switched off the signals. Moments later, all the traffic bottlenecks were cleared and vehicles moved freely signalling that multiple one-ways are the real cause for traffic jams.

In a recent order, the City Police has restricted movement of all types of vehicles (except vehicles of VIPs and VVIPs) on major city roads by creating one-ways and has also banned parking on certain roads till Oct. 15. The rule is enforced in the evening and this is the time when there are already thousands of vehicles on the roads and many more waiting to enter city centre to see the illumination.

Several arterial roads in the Central Business District (CBD) bring vehicles from residential areas, hotels and resorts and all of them converge at the centre. Moreover, many people park vehicles at the junctions to grab a selfie or two with family members, holding up other vehicles. To make matters worse, the bulk of the illumination is in the CBD including K.R. Circle and Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Circle and as such, tourists are swarming there with vehicles.

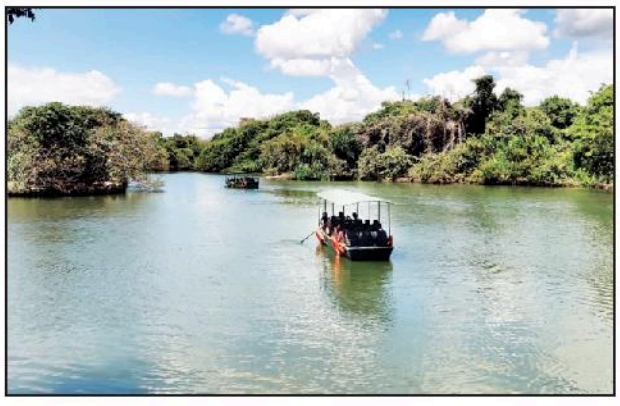
Ranganathittu boat rides attract tourists; not many prefer KRS Dam



After watching a resplendent illumination of Mysuru city last night and staying over, hundreds of tourists headed towards Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary this morning with their cameras and binoculars. Till 11 am, more than 500 tourists went in boats and since the last three to four days, over 10,000 have visited. Compared to Ranganathittu, there are not many takers for KRS Dam as tourists come here only in the evenings for the sound-and-light show. Mysuru Zoo, Chamundi Hill and Mysore Palace saw about 8,000 visitors till noon today. [Pics by Vinay Karekura]

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

How well do you flirt? There is a whole section of the internet dedicated to recording all kinds of attempts at flirting including the suave, successful ones, the cliched ones and the face-palm moments. People often think of flirting as a cheap pickup trick or worse, demonise it as a precursor to sexually predatory behaviour, and the label "Flirt!" becomes a derogatory term. Flirting is supposed to be about showing interest and eliciting interest in another person, sometimes as a possible romantic or sexual partner, but often just as play as a way of just being fun for each other in a social situation. Flirting is about cutting through some of the social conditioning and the reservedness to get people to relax a little, let their guard down a couple of notches so that there is a little more chance of intimacy.

Flirting is not just about single people looking to mingle. Even for people in long-term relationships, it helps keep up a playful connectedness. Flirting with your partners keeps relationships fresh and energised. It is as important an aspect of long-term love as it is in breaking the ice with a prospective partner. We may not ever see flirting as an essential life skill to be learnt at school, but we certainly can stop demonising it.

Woman trashes outlet as "Coffee took too long"

Arkansas: We have all heard of or witnessed disgruntled customers and their unreasonable demands. But with advent of social media, incidents of erratic behaviour by customers are often caught on camera and shared for the world to see.

One such display of entitlement was recorded recently at a McDonald's outlet in Arkansas, USA. It all began when a woman grew impatient with the waiting time for her coffee at the eatery. When told that it would take five minutes as per the timer, she reacted by dropping food trays and table numbers onto the floor.

When threatened with a Police complaint, the customer said she was diabetic and the low blood sugar made her act this way. The entire incident was caught on camera by a fellow customer, who shared it on social media.

Freaky 3-eyed dinosaur shrimp

Arizona: Visitors at Arizona's Wupatki National Monument were in for a spooky surprise when torrential rain summoned hundreds of creepy three-eyed critters from the great beyond.

It took a doozy of a summer storm for hundreds of Triops, described as "mini-horseshoe crabs with three eyes," to hatch and take a dip in the pop-up lake in northern Arizona desert.

At only one and a half inches long, what Triops lack in size, they make up for in quirkiness. These tiny "dinosaur shrimp" reside in the desert, where they can lie dormant for decades on end until there's a strong enough monsoon to bring them to life in the temporary waters. They emerge from their eggs sporting tiny carapaces that resemble a helmet, with two large compound eyes and a smaller simple photoreceptor eye between them, which helps them detect light.

Unresolved parking woes on Devaraj Urs Road

Sir,

Parking woes on D. Devaraj Urs Road is well-known and is one of the longest unresolved issues of the city. One time or the other, every Mysurean has faced this problem of not finding a space to park in this city-centric business avenue.

It is also well-known that the parking problems are mainly because around 60% of the parking space is used by the shop owners and staff for the entire day. What bothers is that even these shop owners are not mindful of the fact that this is leading to loss to their own business!

Moreover, I fail to understand the inability of the District Administration to even to put in place 'pay and park' system at least in this busy road which would have definitely reduced the problem to a considerable extent. What is stopping the administration to implement this system?

We find it really frustrating whenever we are on Devaraj Urs Road, strolling from start to end, making rounds to see if we could get any space to park and what irritates more is that Traffic Police coming from behind and not even allowing the vehicles to stop for a few minutes. Hoping for a solution soon.

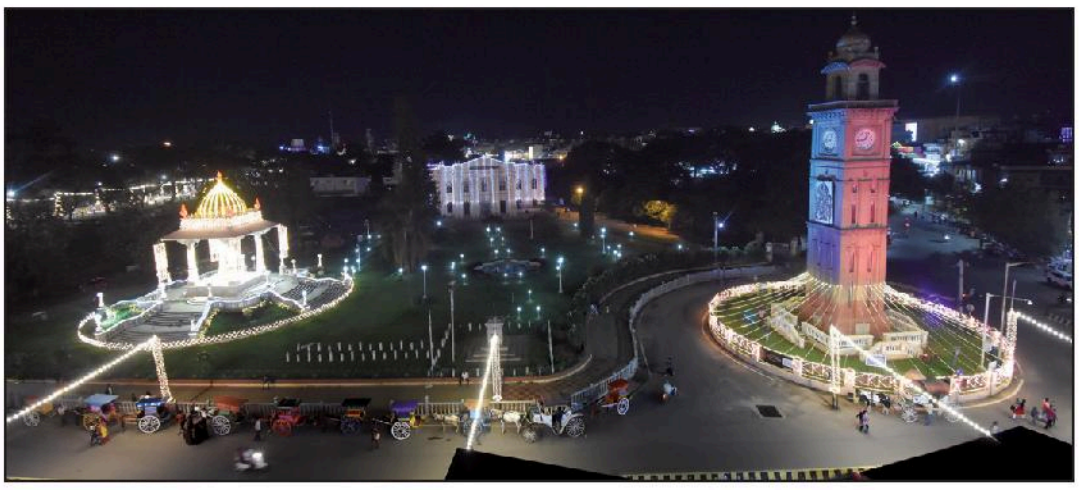
A ride across resplendently-lit royal city



Riding across the royal city of Mysuru is a pleasure during nights as the city has been tastefully decorated. Even as vehicular traffic comes to a halt frequently for a few minutes on all the roads in the Central Business District and even as traffic moves in a slow pace with every onlooker trying to capture the splendid picture, the visit is worth it as emotions ride high seeing the illuminated landmarks. Tourists are having a glimpse of illuminated Indian landmarks like the Parliament, India Gate are taking selfies with our golden boy Neeraj Chopra — all in all conveying the message of national spirit, spirit of oneness and the spirit of inclusivity.

Roads around Mysore Palace like Gun House Circle, B.N. Road, Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Circle (Hardinge Circle), Albert Victor Road, Chamaraja Wadiyar Circle, Krishnaraja Wadiyar Circle (K.R. Circle), New Sayyaji Rao Road, Basaveshwara Circle, Chamaraja Double Road were chock-a-block along with New Sayyaji Rao Road, Govt. Ayurveda Hospital Circle, Bata junction, Visvesvaraya Circle, Irwin Road, Nehru Circle, Ashoka Road and Mahaveer Circle (Town Hall Circle).

Many tourists who had come from far off places could see only half the illumination as they could not proceed to other roads due to traffic snarls.

Some of them remained holed-up inside the hotels, savouring the festival delicacies served there.

"It was publicised that over 100 km of Mysuru has been lit up and we came from Bengaluru. We could see the illumination only at Doddakere Maidan, K.R. Circle and Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Circle. Many roads have been converted into one-ways and there is no place for parking too," said Ashwini Haldipur, an IT professional who came from Bengaluru with family.

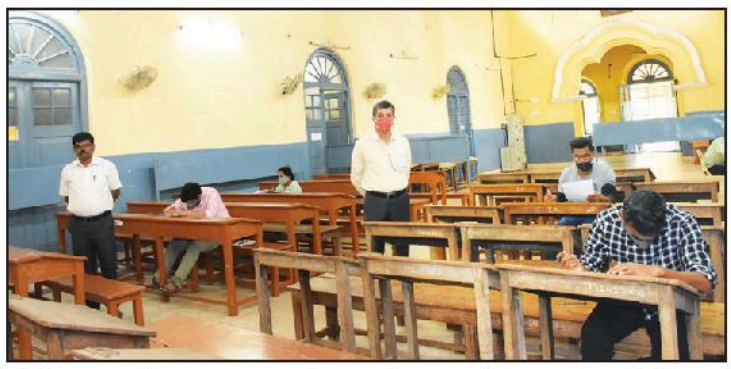
The Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) had increased the Dasara illumination timings by one hour from last evening till 10.30 pm from the earlier 9.30 pm to prevent traffic rush.

On Oct. 14 and 15, (Ayudha Puja and Vijayadashami), the announcement said that the city will be lit up till 11 pm.

However, in a fresh announcement this morning, Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation Managing Director Jayavibhavaswamy said that from Oct. 10 (today), till Oct. 15, the illumination timing has been curtailed till 10 pm from 6.30 pm. This is due to the daily night curfew kicking in from 10 pm, the statement said.

Only 50 percent of candidates appear for UPSC exam

Mysuru, Oct.10 (RKB&DM)- The Civil Services (Preliminary) Exam-2021 conducted by the UPSC (Union Public Service Commission) today for selection of IAS, IPS and other Civil service officers, saw only 50 percent of the candidates who had opted for Mysuru Centre appearing for the exam, which was held at 16 centres spread across the city.



A total of 6,463 candidates had opted for Mysuru centre, out of which only 3,205 attended, while 3,258 candidates were absent, according to sources.

The centres in the city included Maharani's Science and Arts College, D. Banumaiah PU College, Maharani Government PU College for girls, TTL College of Business Management, Saraswathipuram, Marimallappa's PU College, Vijaya Vittala PU College, Saraswathipuram, Mahajana College and Teresian PU College, among others.

The preliminary exam consisted of two-papers that are aimed at testing the analytical skills of candidates- General Ability Test(GAT), which took place in the morning session (9.30 am to 11.30 am) and Civil Service Aptitude Test (CSAT) that was held in the afternoon session (2.30 pm to 4.30 pm).

The candidates have to get a minimum of 33 percent marks to get qualified for the Main exams, it is learnt. The exam was held strictly in accordance with Government SOPs and under tight police security. Also, a maximum of 24 candidates were allowed in an exam room, with 2 invigilators for each room.

The city Police had enforced prohibitory orders under Section 144 of Cr.PC in 200-metre radius of all the 16 exam centres from 6 am to 6 pm as a security measure for ensuring smooth and fair conduct of exams. Also, photocopy shops in the vicinity of all the centres were ordered to close down for the day.

The preliminary exam was earlier scheduled to take place on June 27, but was postponed due to the devastating second wave of COVID-19 pandemic. DDPUE Srinivas Murthy visited some of the exam centres.

BJP is against reservation, alleges Siddharamaiah

Mysuru, Oct.10 (MK&DM)- Maintaining that BJP is against reservation for backward classes and other oppressed sections and is also opposed to decentralisation of power, opposition leader and former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah contended that it was Rajiv Gandhi who empowered democracy by giving more authority to local bodies. He was speaking at the programme organised by Kaginele Kanaka Gurupeetha Shakha Mutt, Mysuru, for felicitating Gram Panchayat heads and members at Kanaka Samudaya Bhavan in Siddharthanagar here yesterday.

Pointing out that the Panchayat Raj system was introduced with an objective of strengthening the federal structure of the country through decentralisation of power, Siddharamaiah said that now the BJP headed Government at the Centre was working against this objective. Accusing the BJP of opposing reservation for backward classes and women and reservation of Gram Panchayat President and Vice-President posts in the Gram Panchayat system, he asserted that the BJP never advocated reservation.

Noting that in the pre-independence days, the then Mysuru ruler Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar constituted Miller Commission, which gave 75 percent reservation for oppressed sections of the society, Siddharamaiah said that in the post-independence days, the Government constituted Naganagouda, Havanur and Mandal Commissions, the recommendations of which were questioned by the BJP in Courts.

Stating that BJP had even argued that political reservation was against the Constitution, he charged BJP leaders like Yediyurappa and Eshwarappa of being behind legal battles. Accusing BJP Govt. of not building any homes for the shelter less, he charged the Govt. of looting public money in the name of COVID.

Kanaka Mutt Seer Sri Siddaramananda Swamiji, Kaginele Seer Sri Shivanandapuri Swamiji, MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah, ex-MLA M.K. Somashekar, leaders K. Marigowda and Shivanna, Corporator Gopi, Mandya Kurubara Sangha President Suresh & Karnataka Hindulida Vargagala Jagruta Vedike President K.S. Shivaram were present.

Breathing easy after COVID tsunami

But pandemic has not petered out as yet; be on guard, warn doctors

Mysuru, Oct. 10 (MK&BCT)- Every crisis has its heroes and the doctors and nurses of hospitals, especially Government Hospitals in Mysuru have won accolades for their selflessness and sacrifice in their relentless fight against COVID-19.

While on one hand people are largely confined to their homes with businesses and educational institutions shut down in an attempt to contain the virus, on the other hand, doctors, healthcare workers and medical staff members led the battle from the front.

Putting their own lives at risk with selfless determination for the sake of saving lives, they truly are heroes in these challenging times. The least we can do here is appreciate their efforts and cooperate by staying safe indoors and also taking all precautions when we venture out now at a time when the pandemic is showing a declining trend.

While most professionals worked from home, this is one profession where professionals have been recruited for in-person work. Dressed in full body suits — at times suffocating and constantly sweating inside, doctors and other healthcare staff have taken the Coronavirus pandemic head-on and helped the city through two disastrous waves over a year-and-a-half. The fight hasn't been without sacrifices.

The steep decline in COVID cases seems to have developed a sense of complacency among people. One can find people moving in public places and markets without masks and without any care for their own safety as also that of others. They seem to be under the impression that the pandemic threat has gone.

But doctors warn that the threat is far from over and advise wearing masks, observing social distance and other COVID-19 protocols for at least three to four more months. Star of Mysore spoke to a section of Junior Resident Doctors from Princess Krishnajammanni Super Speciality Hospital (run under Mysore Medical College and Research Institute) on KRS Road, who have been serving round-the-clock there and who have seen many deaths at the very beginning of their careers.

It all started last March and then there was a dip for two to three months, before it started raging again earlier this year. The frontline COVID warriors were under huge stress anyway, but the problem was that the second wave was four times the first wave, and it basically shook the whole system because there was shortage of beds, shortage of oxygen and medicines. Apart from the District Hospital and Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMC&RI), there were many hospitals that were under the grip of pandemic and Krishnajammanni Super Speciality Hospital was one among them along with Tulsidas Hospital on JLB Road.

"Fortunately, we were able to treat patients through and with the cooperation of donors, corporates and volunteers from other private medical colleges including the JSS Medical College. Though we had a proud feeling of functioning in a new hospital, the flesh and blood of the Hospital in the form of equipment, beds, ICUs, medicines, ventilators and allied infrastructure were filled by donors and corporates," said the Junior Resident Doctors who have put in four months of service.

"As our first time on the field during the thick of the pandemic, we got an opportunity to manage time better as there was just so much to do — administrative work, clinical care, motivating staff, interacting with distraught family members or constantly updating knowledge. Finally we accomplished it and we must take care that the pandemic does not raise its ugly head again. We are seeing many are not wearing masks, while most of them are wearing it improperly on their necks," said Dr. Shivali V. Kamath.

"When the COVID wave started, we had no idea how the pandemic would pan out. It was like going to the war-front with no guarantee that you will come back. But we came to terms with it and that gave us a good experience of handling patients who are young but critical. We felt depressed when many young lives were lost and it was a hopeless situation too," said Dr. H.V. Akshay.

Apart from them, there were many other PG students and rural service doctors who were also posted for duties on rotation basis. The pandemic, tight work schedule and seeing people die in front of their eyes have all made the doctors relook at their lives, their future, meaning of life and purpose of the profession. In a way, COVID has made their lives better.

It's a battle fought inside hospitals, homes

By Dr. Abhijeet Matha
Resident Doctor, Mysore Medical College & Research Institute

Second wave of COVID dealt a bigger blow to Mysuru when compared to the first wave. A team of doctors from Mysore Medical College and Research Institute — senior-most medical faculty which includes Heads of Departments, Nodal Officers, RMOs along with Post-Graduate students, dedicated Resident doctors, Ayurveda doctors, Naturopathy doctors and rural service doctors — have been working relentlessly since May 2021.

It would be an injustice if I do not mention the unflinching support volunteered by JSS Medical College during these tough times. Not just doctors, the nursing staff have taken a step forward in giving their care to patients. This apart, Laboratory personnel and Group D workers too have contributed to the overall well-being and they deserve appreciation.

Dr. Abhijeet Matha

Even the technical support team, security personnel and the Police have given their best during this time of crisis and I would like to attribute it to great team spirit. Though doctors and staff were vulnerable, every single day the selfless warriors have been giving their best by putting their lives at risk saving patients.

The sacrifice is notable as they kept themselves away from their families and loved ones. Hats off to all the family members who took household responsibilities in our absence and we are ever-indebted to them.

Working through day and night, risking lives proves that good wins over evil. This was a battle fought by doctors and not soldiers, this was a battle which was fought inside homes and within the hospitals and not on the battlefield. This battle shall be remembered for years and generations to come and will definitely create history. The trauma that we felt and witnessed, the sickness and death we had seen, is incomparable. We have seen people of all ages losing lives, gasping for their breath, especially youngsters who could have had a bright future. Breathing our own breath behind masks and other heavy uncomfortable gears all day and night is traumatising.

We offer our condolences and pray for the families of patients who lost their near and dear ones. Many of us will also remember those recovered and went home with a smiling face. Tough times come and go, but this one will be etched in our memories. As the song goes, "Heal the world, make it a better place, for you and for me and the entire human race."

Thousands witness Srirangapatna Dasara

Scared by firecrackers elephant Gopalaswamy runs amok

Srirangapatna, Oct.10 (Vinay Karekura&DM)- The three-day Srirangapatna Dasara got off to a spectacular start with thousands of people becoming witness to the annual event in the Fort town of Srirangapatna in Mandya district on Saturday.

Adichunchanagiri Mutt seer Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji launched the Srirangapatna Dasara by offering floral tributes to the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari in the Howdah placed atop elephant 'Gopalaswamy' near the Bannimantap at Kirangur in the outskirts of the town, amidst chanting of mantras by priests and slogans hailing the deity by the huge crowd.

As soon as the procession began amidst the bursting of crackers, Howdah carrying elephant Gopalaswamy, which got scared by the sound of bursting crackers, ran amok forcing the authorities to stop the procession. Later, the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari was placed in a Silver Mantapa mounted atop a flower-decorated open vehicle and the procession continued was taken out, which passed through Kirangur Circle, Baburayanakoppalu, Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway, Kuvempu Circle, TMC Circle, Raja Beedi and Post Office Circle, before culminating at Ranganathaswamy Temple grounds, covering a distance of about 4kms.

More than 25 folk and cultural troupes accompanied the procession. The taluk administration had made seating arrangements for the public at Kirangur Circle, Kuvempu Circle and Dodda Masjid Circle.

Mandya District Minister K.C. Narayanagowda, MLAs Suresh Gowda, Ravindra Srikantaiah and Annadani, DC Aswathi, Additional DC Shailaja, SP Dr. Ashwini, Assistant Commissioner B.C. Shivanandamurthy, Tahsildar Shwetha N. Ravindra and others were present.

Elephant Gopalaswamy runs amok

Thanks to divine intervention, a major tragedy was averted as Howdah carrying Elephant Gopalaswamy, scared by the sound of bursting of crackers, run amok, much to the shock of the huge crowd.

As elephant Gopalaswamy, carrying the Howdah, marched along with Kumki elephant Kaveri and completed one round around Bannimantap and proceeded further, the bursting of crackers by the enthusiastic crowd began. Gopalaswamy, who got scared by the sound, ran amok and stood close to Kaveri, which was following him.

There would have been a huge tragedy had Gopalaswamy ran into the huge crowd. Mahouts, Kavadis and Forest Department officials, succeeded in guiding Gopalaswamy and Kaveri to a safer spot, far from the crowd. As soon as Gopalaswamy started to run amok, the crowd too ran helter skelter, resulting in a near stampede. Soon, the procession was halted and the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari was placed in a Silver Mantapa atop an open vehicle, which travelled on the designated route before culminating at Ranganathaswamy Temple ground.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that the Forest Department and Mysuru district administration had refused to send Mysuru Dasara elephants to Srirangapatna. But following pressure from Mandya district administration, the Mysuru authorities had agreed to send two elephants, on the condition that the procession must be limited to just a kilometre.

COVID guidelines and COVID-19 appropriate behaviour was hardly followed at the event, with people vying with each other to have a close glimpse at the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari. The Police and the authorities had a tough time in controlling the crowds and also on ensuring COVID norms.

However, the people were seen blaming the negligence and lethargic attitude of officials in restricting the number of people , to regulate crowds and also in preventing bursting of crackers close to the elephants as they marched in the procession.

Srirangapatna Dasara concludes tomorrow (Oct.11).

Discrimination in giving advertisements

Journos wear black arm bands in protest

Alleging discrimination in giving Dasara Advertisement to newspapers by the Mandya District Administration, journalists, as a mark of protest wore black arm bands and reported Dasara programmes yesterday.

K.C. Narayanagowda

The newsmen alleged that the District Administration had not given Dasara advertisements to all newspapers but had given the same only to a few papers and expressed their displeasure.

When the journos questioned the District Minister on discrimination of newspapers by the district administration, Minister K.C. Narayanagowda said that it was wrong on the part of the district administration for giving advertisements only to a few newspapers and added that he would collect information about it and assured journalists of taking action on the erring officials.
